

American Heart Association.

STEM Goes Red™

2025 Delaware

STEM Goes RED

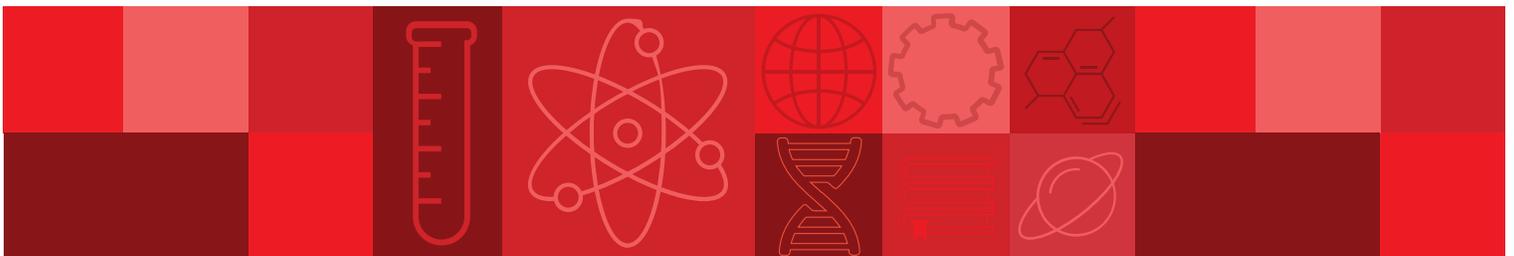

Preparing the next generation of female scientists, doctors, inventors and changemakers is essential if we want to advance health and hope for everyone, everywhere. That's why the American Heart Association is working to close the equality gap in STEM through an educational program called STEM Goes Red.

What to expect:

- An opportunity for 7 - 10 grade girls to be exposed to STEM fields.
- Hands-on workshops led by corporations and businesses in the health, energy, finance, banking, and technology industries.
- A panel discussion with women leaders on building confidence and dreaming BIG.
- Students could get an opportunity to have a mentorship with a participating corporation.

April 10, 2025 | 9:00AM – 2:00PM

University of Delaware, Clayton Hall

Go Red for Women is nationally sponsored by

For more information please contact:

Adam Miller

adam.miller@heart.org | 302-286-5708